OVERVIEW

Jeremy Krahn focuses his practice on product liability defense, complex commercial disputes, and corporate trust litigation. He assists clients in navigating all aspects of civil litigation, from inception through appeals, with particular experience in managing the discovery process. He represents both Fortune 500 companies and small businesses, and he is committed to developing a litigation strategy that best suits the needs of each. As a testament to these strategies, Jeremy has succeeded in resolving cases in the early stages, including by negotiating favorable settlements and by securing outright dismissal through dispositive motion practice.

Before joining Maslon, Jeremy served as a law clerk to the Honorable Matthew E. Johnson at the Minnesota Court of Appeals, and taught constitutional law as an adjunct professor at Mitchell Hamline School of Law. He received his law degree, summa cum laude, from Mitchell Hamline School of Law, where he served as Executive Editor of the Mitchell Hamline Law Review. During law school, he also served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Magistrate Judge Tony Leung at the U.S. District Court for the District of Minnesota. Jeremy received his bachelor's degree in piano performance, with distinction, from St. Olaf College.
