OVERVIEW

Having spent nearly her entire legal career serving as a trusted advisor to closely held businesses, Terri has helped business executives and owners successfully negotiate differences through countless deals. She has developed sophisticated skill for mediating and resolving business disputes and draws upon her decades of experience spanning a wide array of industries. Terri is unique among mediators because her transactional background enables her to deftly work with parties to help them resolve disputes with practical business solutions, enabling the parties to get beyond the dispute and move forward. She revels in being “in the trenches” to mediate all manner of disputes, focusing primarily on conflicts regarding shareholder disputes, mergers & acquisitions, exit strategies, recapitalizations, earnouts, indemnifications, complex contracts, and general commercial disputes.

Clients have frequently referred Terri to their business associates and friends, and, on occasion, even hired her after witnessing her skillful representation of an opponent. One client shared, "Her intuitive business sense together with her passion for helping clients achieve success permeates everything she does. She listens, sees the big picture, and relies on her years of experience to provide practical and creative advice efficiently."

Terri has expanded the services she provides to answer a clear need in the marketplace for creative evaluative mediators who can assist counsel with dispute resolution. As a qualified Rule 114 mediator, she brings her high energy, active listening skills, broad experience, creativity, and pragmatic approach to her mediation practice. Terri is available to conduct both in-person and remote mediations.
